CONSTRUCTION ADVISORY Weeks of March 14 and 21

Since most project work will occur within the closed work area over the next several months, less frequent construction advisories are anticipated. The team will move to issuing updates every other week unless work activities require more frequent communication.

Fontanero Street finishing work underway

Fontanero Street between 30th Street and 31st Street was paved on Saturday, March 5 after extensive utility work. Infrequent lane closures are expected over the next two weeks. Remaining work items include pouring concrete slope paving adjacent to the roadway, placing concrete across the alley between 31st and Pleasant Streets, and final lane striping. All work on Fontanero associated with the 30th Street Corridor Project is expected to be complete by the end of the month. Construction schedules are weather-dependent and subject to change.

Weekend work anticipated this spring

The contractor team led by Wildcat Construction anticipates working weekends this spring to take advantage of good weather. Most weekend work activities will take place within closed work areas and are not expected to impact traffic. Extensive utility work and retaining wall construction is underway between Mesa Road and Gateway Road. Weekend work activities help keep the project on track when weather days are called during the regular work week.
